

Time for a digital health check?

You probably once classed printers and photocopiers as somewhat dreary devices that sat in the corner, churning out paper and relentlessly consuming school funds.

But over recent years there's been a significant shift in their capabilities - a far cry from their once monotonous printing and copying duties

Cost-effective, integrated and highly flexible tools, modern-day MFDs are now the gateway to digital document management and workflow, helping schools adopt more efficient ways of working.

Do any of these scenarios sound familiar?

- Colleagues not knowing where to save/centralise documents and reports.
- Problems with efficient document searching and retrieval.
- Concerns around data compliance.
- Inadequate print infrastructures for the creation of high-quality learning resources and official communications.

What if you could:

- Capture, edit and distribute documents intuitively from an MFD directly into core systems such as SIMS, Finance, HR or CRM?
- Create countless varieties of high-quality learning materials?
- Drive out unnecessary costs, time and risk from traditional paper-intensive tasks?
- Realise huge gains in productivity and see significant returns, typically of 30-40% with a single supplier?

You absolutely can. And much more.

Sounds good. So how do you go about sourcing the most capable devices and systems for your school?

With ISBA – the Independent Schools’ Bursars Association – you can choose from a range of pre-approved IT and Office service providers, including Agilico (we’re the largest independent document and managed print supplier in the UK). And you’ll be able to do so without the hassle of wasting hours researching qualified suppliers, saving you and your institution a significant amount of time, money and stress.

But before you invest in some new and improved kit, you’d benefit from an audit of your current print and document environment to give you a clear understanding of where your school stands.

Claim your complimentary print and document management health check by 28th February 2023.

Undertaken by a professional with extensive experience with independent schools, you’ll discover exactly what you need and what you can achieve with an optimised document fleet.

- Quick answers and a “heads up” on what’s really going on
- Instant visibility of your costs and volumes
- Complete view of your entire printer/copier estate
- Captures all document related costs
- Benchmarking against other schools.

Whatever your needs or objectives, you don’t have to allocate huge resources or lots of time to come up with a blueprint for improvement – you just need the right tools and the right partner. Agilico can give you both.

At no cost, you’ll receive recommendations to improve efficiencies across your institution, help learning and tackle the challenges and costs of effective document creation, management and distribution.

Ahead of exhibiting at the ISBA 2023 Annual Conference, we’re offering independent schools a complimentary print and document management health check.

Simply scan the QR code or visit www.agilico.co.uk/isba to claim yours before 28th February 2023.

Yours

James Spencer

James Spencer
Independent Education Director
isba@agilico.co.uk

Just some of the independent schools we work with...

